TEAM NOTES

Top players:

Didier Drogba's broken arm has threatened to keep him out of the tournament. His World Cup is still in doubt, but the best player in Africa could return for at least two group stage matches.

Yaya Touré, at his best, is one of the best defensive midfielders in the world - and intelligent, strong destroyer in the middle of the pitch. Slightly more creative for country, Touré's health is always a concern.

Older brother Kolo is the key player at the back, but that's a double-edged sword for Sven-Göran Eriksson, as Touré has not been as good for Manchester City as he will need to be for Cote d'Ivoire.

Keys to success:

Like a few other African teams, Cote d'Ivoire will need to augment their lack of depth and creativity in midfield. It's difficult to see them advancing out of this group even if they get strong midfield play, but without it, this group becomes easy to pick.

Outlook:

If Drogba is not 100 percent, Cote d'Ivoire becomes much less threatening. Whether he plays or not, it seems likely he will be hampered. Cote d'Ivoire is not long for South Africa.
